WORKTOUR: Designed for Students Grades K - 14

Worktour's virtual tours are specifically designed and tested to be intuitive for even the youngest students to navigate independently online or on mobile. Students as young as kindergarten build digital literacy skills as they interactively explore a workplace room by room to find fun and interactive info on careers, like clickable interviews where real employees introduce a wide range of in-demand careers across all career clusters. Not only do students learn how their classroom subjects get used in different careers, but they also experience what it's really like in different workplaces.

In addition, Worktour's in-platform prepared lessons are not only standards-aligned, but also tailored to each grade range. K-Grade 4 are prepared as group activities to be led by a teacher, and beginning at Grade 5 lessons are designed so teachers have the option to assign independent activities. Teachers can select from a full catalog of lessons that match the curriculum goals and age range for their specific class.

Worktour's first-person 360° virtual experiences bring student engagement to the next level for even the youngest ages. It's perfect for schools looking for more interactive and fun resources than having students simply watch videos or read text. Empowering students to virtually explore workplaces for themselves is convenient, accessible, and helps them develop the confidence to inspire success and motivate students to own their future plans.
